what's new

a charitable disposition

Hang on there! Don't have your contractor haul away your not-so-old kitchen cabinets, Corian or granite countertops, appliances, luxury bath fixtures, or even the moldings, mantels, windows and doors from your house as you phase into renovation. Green Demolitions will cart them away for free, and you get a charity tax deduction. If you are facing a full demolition of interiors, the company will do the complete removal, again for no cost. Then these items will be sold to lucky shoppers who pay a fraction of what they would have cost elsewhere.

Steve Feldman founded this "after-market" nonprofit organization to benefit his pet project, the Answer to Addiction, which offers free help, literature, CDs and videos to addicts and their families. The organization, which just won an award from Greenwich Green and Clean for its recycling efforts, operates a center in the Catskills for educational purposes.

Shoppers are welcome to view the after-market items at a warehouse on the Stamford-Greenwich line. Call 203-969-4345 for more information.
