Recycling Opulence and Helping a Good Cause -

On April 15, New York Times published a superb article featuring Green Demolitions on the front page of their "Connecticut and The Region" section. The article highlighted the "win-win" Green Demolitions donation program through a restoration removal of a Greenwich estate granite kitchen. Included were interviews with Steve Feldman, President and Andy Smith, Construction Manager.

Last week our phones exploded - donations, industry professionals, and congratulations! Special thanks to New York Times writer Gerri Hirshey and photographer Janet Durrans (and to Amy and Joe for the kitchen donation and photo op!).

Green Demolitions is a self-sustaining donation program recycling luxury kitchens, demolitions, and commercial surplus. Proceeds benefit Recovery Unlimited, the operating name of a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization supporting a highly effective addiction recovery program established in 1964. Donations support our charitable work sustaining and expanding the 77-acre meeting and retreat center from which All Addicts Anonymous outreach programs are operated.
